

To a Lonely Poet!

“I strove with none, for none was worth My strife...” He said, that lonely man
If only my equals should strive with me,
who would be my equal in mind, in soul, and in spirit? Would life not be a lonesome journey?

Oh blessed be, that I can strive
With the high and the low,
With the sage and the fool, the rich and the poor. I am never awed to strive with the famous or unknown;
the haughty, or the humble;
the mighty, or the weak;
the aggressive, or the meek.

My ears forever yearning for a rare gem,
I walk with open eyes and open mind Gleaning pearls of wisdom even from the lowliest and the poorest.

Mr. Walter Landor,* my dear poet you seem to have carried a knife with you only to Savage your own heart.

G. E. Gorfu

*The poet's full name was Walter Savage Landor

Back to Meskot

---

The views reflected in the above poem/article are solely of the author and are not necessarily shared by Meskot. You may contact G.E. Gorfu for comments at gegorfu@yahoo.com.